It's All About The Guitar

The Hamer story and legacy. It is about artisans dedicated to creating the finest instruments, from the best materials. The truth is that at Hamer we outbid everyone for the top tone woods, over-inspect, and select the cream, leaving the rest to the less discriminating builders. Then we lavish more time and attention on every detail than is possible in a mass production environment. Each Hamer guitar is truly hand-built in a manner unparalleled anywhere else. Naturally this process is not inexpensive, but this is not our goal. Our desire is to build soul into the finest crafted electrics in the world. Period. The evidence of our passion can be seen in every part of our instruments.

Improv

Looking for a big archtop sound in a small package? Look no further than the beautiful Hamer Improv. This is one of Hamer's most labor-intensive models, and once you see one, you'll understand why. The Hamer Improv features a Honduras Mahogany body with an arched back, bound front and back with a 5-ply multi-stripe Ivoroid binding. The hand-carved, Spruce top is braced internally and features two Ivoroid bound f-holes. The Hamer Improv is complemented with a hand-carved Ebony bridge, tailpiece, pickguard, and knobs. It also features a hand wound custom shop Seymour Duncan pickup with a master volume and tone mounted to the pickguard. The Hamer Improv is suited for many styles of playing, whether you play jazz, blues, rock, or country. Check one out... you'll see how it got its name!

Artist Ultimate

This labor of love is handmade by the industry's finest luthiers. Even the dual humbuckers are hand wound using oxygen-free Monster Cable wire and signed by Seymour Duncan himself. Outwardly, this masterpiece displays a fully bound body, neck and headstock and also is adorned by some 250 pieces of hand-inlayed Mother-of-Pearl. Within? All Monster Cable internal wiring.

Artist

Building on our tried and true double-cutaway body configuration, we added a finely tuned sound chamber, an "f-hole" port and vintage Seth Lover pickups. The Artist delivers on both ends of the sonic spectrum, giving you an instrument that's equally suited to jazz, rock, blues and alternative music. If you're looking for a non-flame top, check out the Artist Mahogany and the Artist Korina models, available with either single coils or humbucking pickups.

Its all in the Details

Hamer bodies are constructed using only the finest “Pattern Stock” Honduras Mahogany. This gives each Hamer greater resonance and tone.

Hamer necks are constructed using a “stressed neck” system. By matching a straight grain with two opposing grains, each neck becomes much more rigid, dense, and resistant to warping and twisting.

Hamer necks are joined using an oversized dovetail joint. Because the neck joint is 25% larger than the “tenon” style, the transmission of energy and vibration gives every Hamer a naturally longer sustain and sweeter tone.

Artist Mahogany

The Artist Mahogany is a sparkling example of what a hand-crafted semi-hollow body should be. The finest Honduras Mahogany is used for its neck and body along with a book-matched, arched top with an f-hole. Mother-of-Pearl Dot inlays dress up an already beautiful Rosewood fingerboard. The final touch? Seymour Duncan P-90 single coils or Seymour Duncan ‘59 humbuckers.

The Newport represents Hamer's first foray into the realm of the hollow body. The basic Newport features a hand-carved solid Spruce top with two f-holes married to an Ivoroid-bound Honduras Mahogany neck and body, custom-made Seymour Duncan "Phat Cat" single coils, and a Bigsby tremolo. The Newport is now available in Korina. A variation of this, the Newport Pro comes stock with Seymour Duncan Seth Lover humbuckers, Tune-O-Matic bridge and Stop Tailpiece. The Newport Pro Custom has an Ebony fingerboard and 10 Victory inlays, gold trapeze tailpiece and gold hardware. Finally, the distinctive Newport 12-String shimmers with an eye-catching Bird's-Eye Maple top on a Maple body combined with "Phat Cat" single coils.

All Rosewood fingerboards are "quarter sawn" ensuring long life, straightness, and neck stabil-

Hamer frets are hand seated one at a time using a hand press. This painstaking process means that every fret is pressed down evenly and precisely, regardless of the density of the wood.

All fingerboards are attached to the necks and allowed to settle before being radiused and fretted. Necks will stay truer for a longer period of time.

Monaco

The Hamer Monaco single cutaway series has something for everyone. Whether you're looking for something traditional or something with a definite vibe, check out the Monaco Series. Made with a longer 25 1/2" scale length, the Monaco, Monaco Superpro and Monaco III offer some great choices when shopping for a guitar to suit your different playing styles.

Looking for a solid body? Check out the Monaco Elite with its shorter 24 3/4" scale length. Maybe you're looking for something tuned down to "B" to handle your low-end needs? Check out the Hamer Subtone. Strung up with .013"-.056" gauge strings, this 26 1/2" scale model will get down and dirty--one note at a time.

HAMER
USA

Its all in the Details

Hamer uses a low-mass, 3/16" diameter truss rod. As a result, less wood is removed from the neck and the truss rod does not interfere with the natural resonance of the wood.

Hamer installs each steel truss rod pre-tensioned which allows the truss rod to be adjusted both forward and backward. This eliminates the need for sustain-robbing double rods or strengthening bars to remove warps or bows.

Strap buttons are mounted on a flat, routed surface and attached with a rubber "shock absorber" bushing that cushions impacts and stress from the strap pull that might fracture the finish or loosen the mounting screw itself.

Studio

A hand-crafted Honduras Mahogany body & bookmatched Flamed Maple top is lovingly finished with 14 layers of hand-buffed lacquer. Its oversized dovetail joint connects a 3-piece stressed Mahogany neck with a quarter-sawn Rosewood fingerboard and Mother-of-Pearl victory inlays. Add the best hardware in the guitar world, two Seymour Duncan '59 or P-90 pickups, and you've got an instrument that's as beautiful as it is playable.

Chaparral Monaco Bass

Presenting the Chaparral™ 12. The shimmering harmonics, which are the trademark of this unique instrument, are impossible to achieve with any other bass. The effect is not unlike the sound of a bass and a 12- String guitar playing exactly the same parts. However, it's a much fuller experience and totally in your face.

Not just a pretty face, the Monaco Bass is an instrument with true personality. If you think that modern basses have lost their identity in the rush to go hi-fi, this bass is for you.

This Hamer bass features solid tone and flawless construction that delivers no-nonsense performance. The dense mahogany body is topped with glorious figured maple and coupled to a 34" scale rock maple neck for a tonal character that is distinctive and unique. To make sure that character isn't lost, Hamer has specified custom Phat Cat bass pickups, designed by Seymour Duncan exclusively for this instrument.
